Broad Expertise: Economics and Accounting

Firm/Expert Profile: Preparing business valuations and economic damages reports demands accounting and economics expertise. The starting point is an analysis of past financial statements and tax returns-the realm of the accountant. However, it also requires the ability to make reasonable predictions of the future-the domain of the economist. Let Mr. DiQuattro's unusual blend of experience and training as an accountant, business valuation analyst and economist work for you.
