The Firm:

Transportation Alternatives has more than four decades of experience in expert witness and consulting services (see transalt.com). Most unique, TA has worked on both the "operating" and "automotive" sides of the industry. And TA President Ned Einstein has worked at high levels in every sector of the industry, and is a member of leading organizations in every community, including transit, paratransit, schoolbus, motorcoach, special needs and NEMT service.

Education:

MURP (Masters, Urban & Regional Planning): George Washington Univ., 1975
BA, English Literature: Rutgers University, 1969

Professional Experience:

President, Transportation Alternatives (1980 to present). Consulted to USDOT, FTA, FMCSA, NHTSA and dozens of transit agencies, private contractors, social service agencies, state, local and county agencies and school districts. Directed USDOT's first nationwide examination of special transportation systems for disabled and elderly individuals. Designed several major public transportation systems. Authored several major USDOT and other full-length documents, and more than 200 magazine articles.

Chairman/General Manager, PTS Transportation (1982-1992). Directed the operations of a 70-vehicle transportation system for physically and developmentally disabled individuals, and non-emergency medical service for 10 years; served as the original paratransit broker for the City of Los Angeles.

President, TAM-USA (1989-1995). Formed and directed the operations of a U.S.-Slovenian joint venture company which coordinated the design, testing, certification and marketing efforts for a European-manufactured school bus and motorcoach successfully introduced into the U.S. market.

Legal Experience:

Served as a testifying expert on more than 600 public transportation-related lawsuits — for both plaintiffs and defendants — since 1989.
